

PREFACE

The publication of the Malaysia Classification of Products by Activity (MCPA) 2009 contains an extensive list of all the products by economic activity in Malaysia. The publication contains an up-dated product by activity of the first MCPA publication released in 2005.

MCPA 2009 is compiled based on the Malaysia Standard Industrial Classification (MSIC) 2008 Ver. 1.0 and the United Nations Central Product Classification (CPC) 2.0. International comparability of economic statistics will be achieved should countries use product classifications by activity which is linked directly to the United Nations Central Product Classification. A common basis for the classification of products by activity will also be established when different levels consisting of headings identified by numerical codes are used.

Technical notes are provided to facilitate a better understanding of the classification.

To further enhance the quality and usefulness of future publications, the Department will continue to incorporate improvements wherever necessary. Therefore, revisions will be made from time to time. It is hoped that this publication will serve as a useful guide to users both in the public and private sectors. Comments and suggestions towards improving future issues would be greatly appreciated.

Finally, I would like to express my appreciation to all parties concerned in making the MCPA 2009 a success.

Introduction

1. Malaysia Classification of Products by Activity (MCPA) is a classification for all goods and services in the Malaysian economy by main products of industries. Previous commodity classification was based on the Central Product Classification (CPC) 1.0 and the Malaysian Trade Classification and Customs Duties Order (HS) 2002. CPC 2.0 was published by the United Nations hence all commodity codes need to be recompiled to meet the current requirements.
2. The frame for the MCPA is the Malaysia Standard Industrial Classification (MSIC 2008), CPC 2.0, and HS 2007. In principle, the above classifications comply with the International Standard Industrial Classification for All Economic Activities (ISIC Rev 4). As such, the MCPA follows indirectly the standard of ISIC.

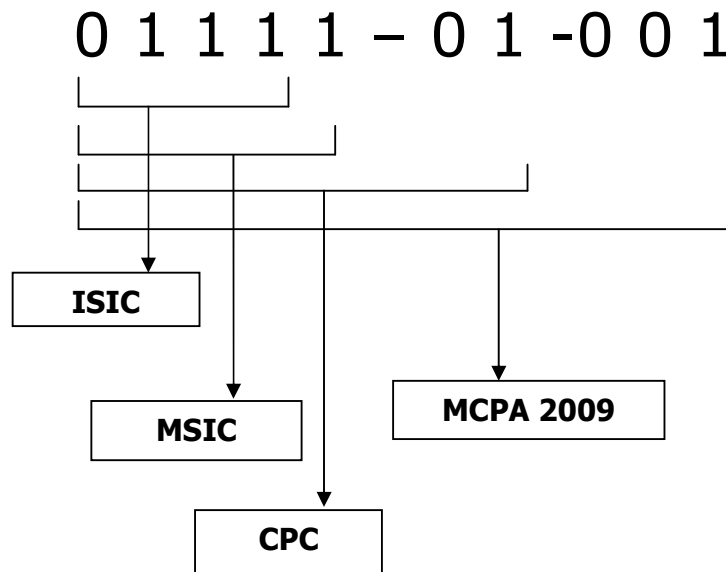

Objective

3. The objective of MCPA is to provide a standard framework for all products and services encompassing those produced within the country or that are imported. MCPA, as a standard commodity classification, would facilitate tabulation of statistics requiring product details. Such statistics may cover production, intermediate and final consumption, capital formation, foreign trade or prices. The classification can also be used as one of the tools for tracking the commodity flow in the economy (i.e. from where and for whom the commodities are produced and this will further simplify the compilation of National Accounts).

Structure and Coding System

4. The first five digit of MCPA explain the activity categories or the industries which produce the commodities. They are equivalent to the item category in the MSIC 2008 which represents the economic segments of the Malaysian economy. Items are created when they possess economic significance and are homogeneous in terms of industrial activities within the economy.
5. The next level which consists of the sixth and seventh digit is the commodity group classification. In principle, it is similar to the subclass in the CPC 2.0 and has direct link with at least the first 4 digits in HS-revised edition 2007.

6. The last three digits, that is, the eight to tenth digit represent individual commodities. The description of each individual commodity follows the description of the data that was compiled from all censuses and surveys.

Changes in MCPA 2009

7. Description of each individual commodity in MCPA 2005 follow the description of HS 2002 at nine digits. As for MCPA 2009, steps were taken to ensure that product could be found in the field. Thus, product description of MCPA 2009 commodity will be linked at 4 digit, 6 digit or 9 digit level of HS 2007.
