PREFACE

The monthly Labour Force Report, Malaysia, presents statistics of the labour force, employment and unemployment obtained from the Labour Force Survey (LFS) through a household approach. The implementation of the LFS is based on the guidelines and recommendations of the International Labour Organization (ILO) with reference to the Surveys of Economically Active Population, Employment, Unemployment and Underemployment: An ILO Manual on Concepts and Methods.

The labour force statistics are vital input for labour market analysis, policy formulation, as well as planning, implementing, and monitoring programmes, particularly related to human resource development. These statistics also serve as essential references for researchers, economists, academicians, the private sector, and individuals involved in research related to employment and the labour market.

The Labour Force Report for July 2025 describes the labour supply condition based on the current situation. The report also elaborates on the month-on-month changes to examine the immediate effects of recent events. In addition, annual changes from the same month of the previous year are also reported.

The Department of Statistics Malaysia gratefully acknowledges the cooperation and contribution rendered by all parties in making this publication a success. Every piece of feedback and suggestion towards improving future reports is highly appreciated.

CONCEPTS AND DEFINITIONS

What is Labour Force Survey (LFS)?

Labour Force Survey (LFS) was conducted to collect information on the structure and distribution of labour force, employment and unemployment from the perspective of labour supply.

LFS encompasses both urban and rural areas for all administrative districts within all states in Malaysia using multi-modal data collection approach through the personal interview and a Computer-Assisted Telephone Interview (CATI).

The LFS are conducted based on the standard guidelines and recommendations of the International Labour Organization (ILO).

The survey population comprises persons who live in the private living quarters, hence excludes persons residing in institutions such as hotels, hospitals, hostels, prisons, and workers residing in construction worksite.

The working age for the analysis of LFS in Malaysia refers to household members between the age of 15 to 64 years during the reference week, who are either in the labour force or outside the labour force.

LABOUR FORCE

- The population in the working age group of 15 to 64 years (in completed years at last birthday).
- Either employed or unemployed in the reference week.

EMPLOYED

- Persons who, at any time during the reference week worked at least one hour for pay, profit or family gain (as an employer, employee, own-account worker or unpaid family worker).
- Persons who did not work during the reference week because of illness, injury, bad weather, leave, labour dispute and social or religious reasons but had a job, farm, enterprise or other family enterprise to return to.
- Those on temporary lay-off with pay who would definitely be called back to work.

UNEMPLOYED

- Those who did not work during the reference week but are interested to work and seeking for a job.
- Classified into two groups which are actively and inactively unemployed.

OUTSIDE LABOUR FORCE

- All persons not classified as employed or unemployed.
- Example: housewives, students, retirees, disabled persons and those not interested in looking for job.

UNEMPLOYMENT RATE

- The proportion of the unemployed population to the total population in labour force.
- Percentage of the unemployed population in the labour force.

LABOUR FORCE PARTICIPATION RATE

- The economic activity of a population depends on the demographic characteristics of that population.
- The proportion of the economically active population, hence differs between sub-groups of that population.
- These variations are measured by specific activity rates termed as labour force participation rate.
- Labour force participation rate is defined as the ratio of the labour force to the working age population (15 to 64 years), expressed as a percentage.

SEASONAL ADJUSTMENT

- Time-series data are very useful for economist, policy & decision makers and time-series analysts to identify the important features of economics series such as direction, turning point and consistency between other economic indicators. Sometimes this feature is difficult to observe because of seasonal movements. Thus, if seasonal effect can be removed, the behaviour of the series would be better viewed. The estimation and removal of the seasonal effects is called seasonal adjustment.
- Seasonal adjustment is a process to identify and to remove the regular within-a-year seasonal pattern, which may also include the influences of moving holidays and working/trading days effect in each period. The ultimate objective of the process is to highlight the underlying trends and short-term movements in the series.
- In Malaysia, most of the time series data is affected by seasonal effects. Hence, to eliminate the seasonal effect as well as to seasonally adjust the Malaysian economic time series data, a standard seasonal adjustment package, X-12 ARIMA was used by the Department of Statistics Malaysia.

EXPLANATORY NOTES

Starting with the release of Labour Force Statistics (LFS), January 2025, the principal statistics of the labour force are estimated based on the current population estimates of Malaysia.

The revision of the LFS data series is performed when the most recent Population and Housing Census of Malaysia 2020 data is available. This census data is then used for the revision of the LFS data series to include additional information available from the latest Population and Housing Census of Malaysia. This process of incorporating revised population benchmarks is referred to as rebasing. On the same note, revisions are carried out on LFS data for January to December 2024 in stages beginning with January to July and October to December data.

KEY REVIEWS

- In July 2025, the number of employed persons was on an increasing trend, with an addition of 0.2 per cent (+33.6 thousand persons) to 16.95 million persons compared to the previous month (June 2025: 16.92 million persons). The employment-to-population ratio, which indicates the ability of an economy to create employment, held steady at 68.7 per cent during the month, consistent with the level recorded in June 2025.
- In terms of economic sectors, the number of employed persons in the Services sector sustained its favourable momentum during the month, particularly in Wholesale & retail trade; Accommodation and food & beverage services; as well as Information & communication activities. On the same note, the Manufacturing, Construction, Agriculture, and Mining & quarrying sectors also recorded positive growth in employment.
- The employees' category continued to represent the largest share of employment, accounting for 75.0 per cent of the total employed persons. This category recorded an increase of 0.1 per cent (+18.3 thousand persons) to 12.71 million persons in July 2025 (June 2025: 12.69 million persons). Similarly, the number of own-account workers experienced a growth of 0.4 per cent (+11.8 thousand persons), totalling 3.21 million persons against the previous month (June 2025: 3.20 million persons).
- The number of unemployed persons during the month posted an increase of 0.6 per cent (+2.9 thousand persons) to 521.6 thousand persons (June 2025: 518.7 thousand persons). The unemployment rate in July 2025 stood at 3.0 per cent, the same as the previous month.
- In July 2025, the labour force continued its upward trajectory, expanding by 0.2 per cent (+36.5 thousand persons) month-on-month to reach 17.47 million persons, compared to 17.43 million persons in the prior month. The labour force participation rate (LFPR) for July 2025 remained at 70.8 per cent, as of June.
- The number of persons outside the labour force during the month recorded a rise of 0.2 per cent (+12.8 thousand persons) to 7.19 million persons compared to 7.18 million persons in June 2025. Housework/ family responsibilities was the largest component of the outside labour force, with a share of 43.7 per cent, followed by the schooling/ training category at 40.8 per cent.
- Malaysia's labour market is expected to remain stable, inclusive, and resilient, with positive prospects in the coming months. Despite external challenges, strong domestic economic fundamentals, strategic investments, and proactive government policies are predicted to continue supporting employment growth. A focus on upskilling, innovation, and the green economy will be key drivers to ensure Malaysia's labour market remains globally competitive.

1 INTRODUCTION

MALAYSIA'S LABOUR MARKET REMAINS STABLE AND ENCOURAGING IN JULY 2025, DRIVEN BY ECONOMIC GROWTH AND STRATEGIC POLICIES

Malaysia's economic condition continues to demonstrate resilience and dynamism, underpinned by robust growth across key sectors and strategic investments that fuel national development. Malaysia recorded a Gross Domestic Product (GDP) growth of 4.4 per cent in the second quarter of 2025, despite global uncertainty and geopolitical pressures. This performance is supported by strong domestic demand, favourable performance of key sectors, particularly in the Services and Manufacturing sectors, as well as projects under the 13th Malaysia Plan (13MP) and infrastructure investments that strengthen the economic base<sup>1</sup>.

Additionally, Selangor and Johor emerged as economic powerhouses, with Selangor alone contributing RM432.1 billion to the national GDP, or 26.2 per cent of the total, driven by vibrant Services and Manufacturing sectors<sup>2</sup>. Complementing this industrial surge is the strategic revitalisation of the Agricultural sector, particularly in Perlis, which recorded RM584.82 million in agricultural sales in 2023<sup>3</sup>. With nearly 65 per cent of its land dedicated to farming, Perlis exemplifies the potential of sustainable agriculture to make a significant contribution to food security and economic diversification.

Moreover, new investments in high-tech industries are reshaping Malaysia's industrial landscape, with Perak becoming a focal point for semiconductor and automotive development. The state is benefiting from a share of the RM63 billion national investment under the National Semiconductor Strategy (NSS), attracting global players like Carsem and Unisem, and launching mega projects such as the Kerian Integrated Green Industrial Park (KIGIP)<sup>4</sup>. These initiatives are expected to generate more jobs opportunities by 2030, supported by workforce development programmes tailored to industry needs. Fulfilling this industrial momentum are policy proposals aimed at enhancing labour market inclusivity, including tax incentives to encourage greater participation of women in the workforce<sup>5</sup>. These efforts align with the government's broader vision of building a fair and resilient economy for all Malaysians<sup>6</sup>.

Continuing its commitment to workforce development, Malaysia hosted the MyFutureJobs S-Cat 2025 Career Carnival on 5 and 6 July 2025 at the Borneo Convention Centre Kuching (BCKK), Sarawak. The event offered over 1,500 job opportunities from more than 30 employers across various industries, including services, logistics, and manufacturing<sup>7</sup>. Organised as a free and inclusive initiative, the carnival provided job seekers with direct interview sessions, career coaching, resume preparation guidance, and registration support for the MYFutureJobs portal. These efforts not only facilitated effective employment connections but also reinforced the government's strategy to enhance labour market accessibility and regional economic participation, particularly in East Malaysia.

In addition, the country's labour market position in July continued to expand in line with ongoing economic development. The persistently low unemployment rate reflects increased hiring activity, particularly in the Services, Construction, and Manufacturing sectors. The number of employments also rising, driven by high demand in the tourism, logistics, and technology sectors. Flexible work policies and digitalisation have created greater opportunities for the participation of women and young people in the labour market. Furthermore, government-implemented reskilling and upskilling programmes have contributed to labour force labour participation.

High investments in the semiconductor, renewable energy, and digital economy sectors have generated thousands of high-skilled job opportunities. Projects under the 13MP and the NSS are also beginning to yield positive results in terms of job creation<sup>8</sup>. July 2025 also recorded an increase in temporary employment in conjunction with the festive season and school holidays, particularly in the retail, food and beverage (F&B), and tourism sectors. As a result, Malaysia's labour market continues to reflect a stable and encouraging landscape, supported by consistent economic growth and the government's strategic policy implementation. However, challenges such as automation, income inequality, and the rising need for new skill sets must be addressed to ensure the inclusive distribution of economic gains.

Looking at the Malaysian economic indicators, the Leading Index (LI) recorded a marginal decline of 0.2 per cent year-on-year to 113.4 points in June 2025 (June 2024: 113.6 points). The monthly LI also registered a decrease of 0.5 per cent compared to the previous month. As for the smoothed long-term trend in June 2025, the LI remained below 100.0 points, anticipating an easing economic momentum. The outlook is supported by a strong domestic foundation but weighed down by external challenges. In the meantime, the external trade indicators for July 2025, both exports and imports, rebounded to a double-digit growth of 15.5 per cent (June 2025: -4.0%) and 10.9 per cent (June 2025: -10.9%), respectively.

2 EMPLOYED PERSONS

The number of employed persons was on an increasing trend

In July 2025, the number of employed persons was on an increasing trend, with an addition of 0.2 per cent (+33.6 thousand persons) to 16.95 million persons compared to the previous month (June 2025: 16.92 million persons). Seasonally adjusted figures also reflected a 0.1 per cent increase in the number of employed persons. Comparing with one year earlier, the number of employed persons rose by 3.1 per cent, the equivalent of 504.7 thousand, from 16.44 million persons recorded in July<sup>r</sup> 2024.

In terms of economic sectors, the number of employed persons in the Services sector sustained its favourable momentum during the month, particularly in Wholesale & retail trade; Accommodation and food & beverage services; as well as Information & communication activities. On the same note, the Manufacturing, Construction, Agriculture, and Mining & quarrying sectors also recorded positive growth in employment.

The employment-to-population ratio, which indicates the ability of an economy to create employment, held steady at 68.7 per cent during the month, consistent with the level recorded in June 2025. Compared to July<sup>r</sup> 2024, the ratio rose by 0.4 percentage points from 68.3 per cent [Chart 1].

Note: <sup>r</sup> Revision based on the current population estimates from the Population and Housing Census of Malaysia 2020

The employees' category continued to represent the largest share of employment, accounting for 75.0 per cent of the total employed persons. This category recorded an increase of 0.1 per cent (+18.3 thousand persons) to 12.71 million persons in July 2025 (June 2025: 12.69 million persons). Similarly, the number of own-account workers experienced a growth of 0.4 per cent (+11.8 thousand persons), totalling 3.21 million persons against the previous month (June 2025: 3.20 million persons). This category primarily comprises daily income earners involved in small-scale businesses, such as retailers, hawkers, market vendors, stallholders, and smallholders [Chart 2].

Chart 2: Employed persons by status in employment, June and July 2025

The number of employed persons who were temporarily not working in July 2025 declined by 0.6 per cent (-0.5 thousand persons) to 89.6 thousand persons, down from 90.1 thousand persons in June 2025. Year-on-year, the number increased by 16.3 per cent (+12.6 thousand persons) against 77.0 thousand persons registered in July<sup>r</sup> 2024. This group comprises individuals who were temporarily not working but were not considered unemployed, as they retained jobs to return to.

3 UNEMPLOYMENT

July's unemployment rate stood at 3.0 per cent

The number of unemployed persons during the month posted an increase of 0.6 per cent (+2.9 thousand persons) to 521.6 thousand persons (June 2025: 518.7 thousand persons). The unemployment rate in July 2025 stood at 3.0 per cent, the same as the previous month. In seasonally adjusted estimates, the number of unemployed persons went up by 0.8 per cent, with an unemployment rate of 3.0 per cent.

Meanwhile, the number of unemployed persons continued to fall by 5.7 per cent (-31.6 thousand persons) year-on-year (July<sup>r</sup> 2024: 553.2 thousand persons). Accordingly, the unemployment rate declined by 0.3 percentage points as against 3.3 per cent in July<sup>r</sup> 2024 [Chart 3].

Note: <sup>r</sup> Revision based on the current population estimates from the Population and Housing Census of Malaysia 2020

By unemployment category, 79.8 per cent of the total unemployed persons were the actively unemployed, or those who were available for work and were actively seeking jobs. This group posted an increase of 0.4 per cent (+1.7 thousand persons) to 416.2 thousand persons (June 2025: 414.4 thousand persons). By duration of unemployment for the actively unemployed, those who were unemployed for less than three months comprised 64.3 per cent, whereas 5.1 per cent were those who were unemployed for more than a year<sup>9</sup>.

In the meantime, those who believed that no jobs were available, or the inactively unemployed, increased by 1.1 per cent, or the equivalent of 1.2 thousand persons, to record 105.5 thousand persons compared to 104.3 thousand persons in June 2025 [Chart 4].

6 LOOKING AHEAD

Malaysia's economy in the current month of 2025 is seen as stable, resilient, and exhibiting medium-to-strong growth potential. This is supported by private consumption, strategic investments, and major infrastructure projects such as the East Coast Rail Link (ECRL), Light Rail Transit Line 3 (LRT3), and the RTS Link between Johor Bahru and Singapore<sup>10</sup>. While global challenges remain, strong domestic fundamentals, strategic investments, and political stability provide confidence that Malaysia may sustain its growth momentum in the coming years.

In addition, job opportunities continue to grow, especially in the digital and green technology sectors, as well as in domestically oriented services such as trade, transportation, and hospitality. This supports the continued expansion of the country's labour market with a low unemployment rate. Accordingly, Malaysia's labour market remains on a stable and resilient track despite global economic uncertainty.

The continued strong labour force participation rate reflects public confidence in the available job opportunities. Employment growth also remains steady, supported by the Services sector, particularly tourism, retail and wholesale trade, transportation, and logistics. Furthermore, the Manufacturing sector, especially in electrical and electronics (E&E), F&B, and resource-based products, continues to contribute positively. Meanwhile, the Construction sector is also experiencing growth, driven by public infrastructure projects and property development.

Therefore, based on current economic and investment indicators, the labour market is expected to maintain positive momentum until the end of 2025, driven by increased job opportunities such as high demand for skills in artificial intelligence, data analytics, cybersecurity, and software development. Additionally, job opportunities in solar energy, waste management, low-carbon technology, and domestically oriented services, including health, education, and e-commerce logistics, are also expected to grow.

To ensure the labour market remains competitive and inclusive, several strategic measures need to be prioritised. These include strengthening technical and vocational education and training (TVET) to meet the needs of high-tech industries; encouraging greater participation of women and youth in the workforce through employer incentives, flexible work arrangements, and childcare support; and expanding the structured gig economy with social protection and digital skills training. Additionally, efforts should be made to drive investment in high value-added sectors to create high-income jobs.

As such, Malaysia's labour market is expected to remain stable, inclusive, and resilient, with positive prospects in the coming months. Despite external challenges, strong domestic economic fundamentals, strategic investments, and proactive government policies are predicted to continue supporting employment growth. A focus on upskilling, innovation, and the green economy will be key drivers to ensure Malaysia's labour market remains globally competitive.
